

Boston Beer Reports Second Quarter 2008 Earnings Growth

August 5, 2008

BOSTON, Aug. 5 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- The Boston Beer Company, Inc. (NYSE: SAM) achieved second quarter earnings per diluted share of $0.60, an increase of 30% or $0.14 per diluted share over the second guarter 2007. The second guarter results include an estimated negative impact on net income of $2.8 million or $0.19 per diluted share related to additional costs of the voluntary product recall announced April 7th, while benefiting somewhat from increased shipments due to the replacement of recalled product. For the six months ended June 28, 2008, the Company's earnings per diluted share were $0.33, a decrease of $0.53. The decrease is primarily a result of provisions taken for the recall, which have an estimated negative impact on net income of $11.6 million or $0.81 per diluted share. Net revenue for the second quarter of 2008 was $117.4 million, an increase of $24.5 million or 26% over the same period last year, and net revenue for the first six months of 2008 was $193.5 million, an increase of $28.2 million or 17% over the same period last year.

Key highlights of the second quarter were:

- -- Depletions growth of 8% for the guarter and 10% year to date.
- -- Net Pricing increased approximately 5% year to date.

-- Product Recall expenses increased to $20.6 million from the previously announced $15.0 million, due primarily to an increase in returns above what was originally estimated.

-- Excluding the effects of the product recall, there is no change in guidance for gross margin and earnings per share for the full year.

-- The acquisition of the Pennsylvania Brewery was completed and capital investment for the brewery start up is on budget and on time, and beer was successfully brewed and racked. Bottling of beer was initiated in July.

Jim Koch, Chairman and Founder of the Company, commented, "We achieved 8% depletions growth in the second guarter compared to 12% depletions growth in the first quarter. Our depletions growth slowed slightly in the first half of the summer, but we still appear to be growing our share within the craft beer category. We are encouraged by our position and remain positive about the future of craft beer, even as the craft category has raised pricing in the face of significant cost pressures. "

Martin Roper, Boston Beer Company President and CEO, stated, "We are happy with our depletions results, that we feel have been driven by drinker interest in craft beers and our investment in brand support for Samuel Adams." Mr. Roper continued, "On April 7th, we announced a voluntary product recall of certain glass bottles of Samuel Adams products. We completed most of the recall activities during the second quarter with the help of our wholesalers, retailers and customers and appreciate the outstanding support they provided during this process. In our first guarter financial results, we took various charges for this recall, based on the best available information at that time. Our estimates are now higher than previously reported, as more data has become available. The after-tax impact of these additional provisions in the second quarter was $2.8 million. We estimate that we quarantined for destruction approximately 925,000 cases of product, of which 200,000 cases were held at our warehouses and identified prior to shipment to our wholesalers. The full costs of this effort include drinker rebates, product credits, fees and incentives to wholesalers and retailers for the recall, lost product, freight and destruction charges for returned product, warehouse and inspection fees, repackaging materials, POS materials and other costs. We also believe that we have experienced lost sales at retail which probably contributed somewhat to the slower growth rate in depletions for the second quarter. For the first six months of 2008, to reflect the current known estimated impact of this recall, we reversed approximately 725,000 case equivalents of shipments, which translates to approximately $12.3 million of sales credits, and recorded approximately $8.3 million as recall costs. The after-tax impact of these provisions was $11.6 million. All these amounts reflect estimates based on available information, which could differ from the actual recall costs, and do not reflect any potential recoveries from third parties. We also believe that we replenished some of the recalled shipments in the second guarter resulting in higher shipments and revenue than would have normally been anticipated for the guarter, absent the recall, and any benefit from this is not included in the above provision estimates. The Company carries product liability insurance, but does not carry product recall insurance."

Commenting on the Company's brewery strategy, Mr. Roper continued, "We closed on the purchase of the brewery in Lehigh Valley, Pennsylvania, and paid the $45.0 million balance of the purchase price, as scheduled in June 2008. We began brewing at the brewery prior to taking ownership, and began kegging and bottling on schedule during the last six weeks. The actual production volumes for the second half of 2008 will be dependent on requirements for production under our packaging services agreement with Diageo North America, limitations on how fast we can ramp up our brewing, and the timing of certain capital investments. Through the end of the second guarter of 2008, we had incurred $19 million at the Pennsylvania Brewery in capital improvements to upgrade other portions of the facility and startup costs necessary to restart the brew house. We currently anticipate that total capital spend this year on the Pennsylvania Brewery improvements and startup will be between $45.0 million and $55.0 million."

2nd Quarter Results

Core shipment volume for the three months ended June 28, 2008 was approximately 588,000 barrels, a 19% increase over the same period in 2007. This includes the impact of replenishment shipments for the product recalled. Total Company depletions in the second guarter grew 8%, driven by double digit growth in Samuel Adams(R) Seasonals and single digit growth in Twisted Tea(R) and Samuel Adams(R) Brewmaster's Collection. The Company believes that wholesaler inventory levels at June 28, 2008 were slightly higher than last year's levels, as reflected in shipments exceeding depletions and that such inventory would normally be expected to unwind during the course of the year.

The Company's net income of $8.5 million, or $0.60 per diluted share, for the three months ended June 28, 2008, represented an increase of $1.7 million or $0.14 per diluted share from the same period last year, primarily as a result of an increase in net revenue and a write-off of brewery project costs for a new brewery in Freetown, Massachusetts in 2007 of $3.4 million, partially offset by the product recall costs, increases in costs of goods sold, selling and advertising expenses and general and administrative expenses. Net revenue increased by $24.5 million, or 26.4%, during the three months ended June 28, 2008, as compared to the same period in 2007. The net revenue increase resulted from increases in volume and net revenue per barrel for core products primarily due to price increases. Advertising, promotional and selling expenses increased by $3.1 million during the quarter, as compared to the prior year, primarily due to increases in freight expenses to wholesalers, salary and benefit costs and increased local promotions. General and administrative costs increased by $3.0 million during the quarter as compared to the prior year, driven by the addition of startup and recurring planned administrative costs related to the Pennsylvania Brewery, salary and benefit costs and legal costs. The tax rate in the second quarter of 2008 increased to 44.8% from 42.4% as a result of lower than expected pretax income due to the recall, but with no corresponding reduction in non-deductible expenses.

Year to Date Results

Core shipment volume for the six month period ended June 28, 2008, including any recall related replenishments shipments, was 1.0 million barrels, an 11.5% increase from the same period in the prior year.

In the first half of 2008, total Company depletions grew 10%, driven by double digit growth in Samuel Adams(R) Seasonals and Brewmaster's Collection and single digit growth in Twisted Tea(R) and Samuel Adams Boston Lager(R).

The Company's net income of $4.8 million or $0.33 per diluted share for the six months ended June 28, 2008, represented a decrease of $7.8 million or $0.53 per diluted share compared to the same period last year, primarily as a result of the product recall and increases in costs of goods sold, selling and advertising expenses and general and administrative expenses, partially offset by an increase in net revenue, a decrease in taxes and a write-off of brewery costs in 2007 of $3.4 million. Advertising, promotional and selling expenses increased by $8.1 million during the first half of the year as compared to the prior year, primarily due to increases in freight expenses to wholesalers, local marketing and promotions, salary and benefit costs and advertising costs. General and administrative costs increased by $5.2 million during the first half of the year as compared to the prior year, driven by salary and benefit costs, startup and recurring planned administrative costs related to the Pennsylvania Brewery and legal costs. The effective tax rate for the first half of the year increased to 46.5% from the 2007 rate of 41.4% as a result of lower than expected pretax income due to the recall, but with no corresponding reduction in non-deductible expenses.

Other matters

Based on shipments and orders in-hand, gross core shipments through August of 2008 appear to be up approximately 12% as compared to the same period in 2007. Net of product returns, core shipments and orders in-hand appear to be up approximately 8%. Actual shipments may differ, however, and no inferences should be drawn with respect to shipments in future periods.

Year-to-date depletions through July 26, 2008 are estimated to be up approximately 10% over 2007, but this number may not be indicative of actual business trends due to some inconsistent reporting of the recall in the numbers that are available to us.

During the second quarter, the Company met with representatives of the U.S. Alcohol and Tobacco Tax and Trade Bureau and presented its analysis of the events identified by the TTB during its audit last fall. Settlement discussions are underway; however, it is too early to tell what the final outcome will be. Nevertheless, based on available information, the Company's reserve of $3.9 million appears adequate to cover the cost of likely outcomes to the Company.

As previously reported, the Company currently estimates total capital expenditures in 2008 to be between $110.0 and $125.0 million, of which $45.0 million was the balance of the Pennsylvania Brewery purchase price paid in June 2008, and $45.0 to $55.0 million relates to capital expenditures necessary to restart and upgrade the Pennsylvania Brewery. The Company expects that its cash and investment balances as of June 28, 2008 of $19.4 million along with future operating cash flow and the Company's unused line of credit of $50 million will be sufficient to fund future cash requirements.

Excluding the impact of the recall, the Company still expects 2008 earnings per diluted share to be between $1.70 and $2.00. Including the impact of the recall and related tax effect, but without taking into account any potential recoveries, the Company expects 2008 earnings per diluted share to be between $0.85 and $1.15. The earnings per share range estimate does not include any significant change in currently planned levels of brand support, any additional expenses above the current estimates for the startup and upgrade of the Pennsylvania Brewery, the product recall or the $3.9 million excise tax provision discussed above. The Company's ability to achieve this level of earnings growth in 2008 is dependent on its ability to achieve challenging targets for volume, pricing and costs.

During the three months ended June 28, 2008, the Company did not repurchase any shares of its Class A Common Stock. Through August 1, 2008, the Company has repurchased a cumulative total of approximately 8.5 million shares of its Class A Common Stock for an aggregate purchase price of $114.0 million, and had $6.0 million remaining on the $120.0 million share buyback expenditure limit set by the Board of Directors. As of August 1, 2008, the Company had 9.9 million shares of Class A Common Stock and 4.1 million shares of Class B Common Stock outstanding.

The Boston Beer Company began in 1984 with a generations-old family recipe that Founder and Brewer Jim Koch uncovered in his father's attic. After bringing the recipe to life in his kitchen, Jim brought it to bars in Boston with the belief that drinkers would appreciate a complex, full-flavored beer, brewed fresh in America. That beer was Samuel Adams Boston Lager(R), and it helped catalyze what became known as the American craft beer revolution.

Today, the Company brews more than 21 styles of beer. The Company uses the traditional four vessel brewing process and often takes extra steps like dry-hopping and a secondary fermentation known as krausening. It passionately pursues the development of new styles and the perfection of its classic beers by constantly searching for the world's finest ingredients. While resurrecting traditional brewing methods, the Company has earned a reputation as a pioneer in another revolution, the "extreme beer" movement, where it seeks to challenge drinkers' perceptions of what beer can be. The Boston Beer Company strives to elevate the image of American craft beer by entering festivals and competitions the world over, and in the past five years it has won more awards in international beer competitions than any other brewery in the world. The Company remains independent, and brewing quality beer remains its single focus. While the Company is the country's largest-selling craft beer, it accounts for only about one half of one percent of the U.S. beer market. For more information, please visit www.samueladams.com.
